

Feminist Law Reform & Media Leadership Virtual Workshops

Do you want to advocate for systemic change, write an op-ed or give an interview to the media but worry that you don't have enough knowledge or skills? Then these two workshops are for you. These self-directed online workshops were designed for Violence Against Women (VAW) service providers across Canada.

We are happy to offer FREE online advocacy and media capacity and skills-building workshops developed for frontline VAW workers.

Feminist Law Reform

A self-directed multi-module e-learning that looks at how to do law reform as a community-based organization. It covers the steps in a law reform campaign, including how to work effectively in a coalition. It also looks at other forms of law reform and recent campaigns. Participants gain access to a comprehensive toolkit.

Feminist Media Leadership

This self-directed multi-module e-learning looks at how to work with the media to promote gender-based violence concerns. It covers traditional and social media, the role of a media spokesperson, communication tools and media interviews. It also explores how much language matters in all these situations. Participants gain access to a comprehensive toolkit.

If you are interested in accessing both or either of the workshops, please contact us.
